

NextGen HIV Research: Tackling Critical Issues Head-On

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: JULY 15, 2024

Eligibility Investigators who focus on HIV/AIDS clinical, behavioral, public health, or laboratory research are invited to submit abstracts to the 2024 SD CFAR Research Day. Preference will be given to emerging investigators and to those whose research has been supported by SD CFAR core services or grant funding. Grant funding includes Developmental grants, International Pilot grants, Administrative Supplements, Community Research Kick Start grants, HWSPH, PROPEL, and Next Generation grants.

Heading

- Title: Use a concise title that indicates the content of the abstract. Italicize specific names of microorganisms.
- Authors: Authors' names should be typed in upper- and lowercase letters (please do not use all capital letters). Use first name and last name. Indicate the presenting author and include an email address and business phone. There is a limit of 10 authors per abstract.
- Affiliations: List institution, city, and state for domestic authors. List institution, city, and country for international authors. Do not include department, division, laboratory, or acknowledgements.
- Funding Source: List funding source(s) and grant number(s). All grants funded by the San Diego Center for AIDS Research share the same number: P30 AI036214.

Content Abstract submissions are welcome on all aspects of HIV, including clinical, behavioral, public health, or laboratory research. Abstracts are limited to 2,500 characters, including spaces. A maximum of one table or one figure may be included. Please do not include literature references or copyright or trademark symbols.

Please bold the following four section headings within the text of your abstract:

- Background: A concise statement of the issue under investigation or a hypothesis;
- Methods: The research methods used (including the statistical analyses employed);
- Results: Specific findings (promises such as "to be completed" or "to be presented" are not acceptable); and
- Conclusions: A summary of findings that are supported by your results. Statistical analyses used to support the conclusions, where appropriate, should be included.

Restrictions Abstracts will not be accepted for work that has been published. We will consider abstracts for work that has been presented but not yet published. When submitting your abstract, please indicate in your email whether and where your research was previously presented.

Submissions Email completed abstracts in Word or PDF format to cfar@ucsd.edu by Monday, July 15, 2024. Results will be announced by Friday, August 23, 2024.
